DETAILED ACTION

The indicated allowability of claims 25-27 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Simpson '696, Current '838, Cooke '692 and Slack '170.

Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 25 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simpson et al. 200020189696 in view of Current 3,374,838.

Simpson discloses (fig. 8) a seal element comprising a support (paragraph 0014), a sealing layer (86) partially enclosing the support and a tubing comprising slots (84) adapted to radially extend against the support to press the sealing layer against a wall (fig. 9). Simpson does disclose the support can be similar to strips of metal on the external surface of inflated packers (paragraph 0042, last sentence) but does not specifically disclose the support is a sleeve. Current teaches (fig. 6) a support that is a sleeve (at 177) in the external surface of a inflated packer. As it would be advantageous to use a support that is suggested by Simpson to use, it would be advantageous to one of ordinary skill in the art at time of the invention to modify Simpson to have a support sleeve in view of the teaches of Current.

Referring to claim 27, Simpson discloses the tube (85) is adapted to expand with compressed axially.

3. Claim 26 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simpson et al. 200020189696 in view of Current 3,374,838 as applied to claim 25 and further in view of Cook 200050000692.

Simpson, as modified does not disclose the slots are helical. Cook teaches a packer with a sealing layer that has an expandable tubing with helical slots (see fig. 9f). Cook teaches the shape of the slots depends upon the shape of the tubular, amount of radial expansion required. Moreover, a change in the shape of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Dailey, 357 F.2d 669, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1966). As it would be advantageous to have the slots be the best shape for the amount of radial expansion required, it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the seal element disclosed by Simpson, as modified by Current to have helical slots in view of the teachings of Cook.

4. Claim 26 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simpson et al. 200020189696 in view of Current 3,374,838 as applied to claim 25 and further in view of Cook 200050000692.

Simpson, as modified does not disclose the slots are helical. Slack teaches an expandable tubing with helical slots (see fig. 9f). Moreover, a change in the shape of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Dailey, 357 F.2d 669, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1966). Therefore, it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the seal element disclosed by Simpson, as modified by Current to have helical slots in view of the teachings of Simpson because a change in the shape of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 31 is allowed.
